Product Lineup Carried By Select Trane Distributors in the Quebec and Atlantic Canada Regions

TORONTO, April 14, 2020 – Today, LG Electronics Canada announced Trane as their exclusive distributor for the LG VRF Multi V air solutions products available in the Quebec and Atlantic Canada regions.

LG's VRF Multi V systems minimize efficiency loss and provide sustainable energy benefits to any project. Providing exceptional comfort, efficiency and reliability, LG VRF solutions offer cost effectiveness and easy installation, making it a versatile and powerful air conditioner system.

“Distribution with Trane allows LG Canada to provide our coveted lineup of VRF system solutions to even more clients,” said Denis Murphy, vice president of air conditioning at LG Electronics Canada. “With Trane being an innovative and reputable world leader in air conditioning systems, we’re pleased to introduce LG as part of their portfolio offering to fulfil industry needs.”

“Trane prides itself on providing customers with best-in-class HVAC solutions,” said Guy Bourbonniere, regional general manager for Trane. “We are excited to expand our portfolio with LG VRF technology. Trane’s expertise combined with the LG Multi V product line, controls and low ambient cooling single split system will bolster our offerings in the Quebec and Atlantic Canada markets, and provide our customers even more options to create comfortable, energy efficient indoor environments.”

As an industry leader, LG offers a variety of commercial, light commercial and residential air conditioning systems including VRF technology, customizable control systems and powerful new heating capabilities. With an arsenal of products, LG Canada provides architects, engineers and contractors with optimal design flexibility and installation versatility for a variety of modern building projects.
